Dermatix

Uses

A topical silicone gel for scar prevention in freshly healed wounds and for reduction of prominent immature scars. Helps to maintain the skin's moisture balance, while treating scars resulting from surgery, burns, and other injuries. Can be applied to all areas of the skin, including the face, joints and flexures.

Dosage

Adults and children: wash the affected area and pat dry. Gently massage a small amount of gel into the scar once in the morning and once at night for a minimum of 2 months. Difficult scars may need to be treated for longer.
